DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Ronald E. Brown on March 21, 2007.

The application has been amended as follows:

In claim 12, after the last paragraph, include the claim language "wherein the heat generated by the driver element is conducted to the heatsink to be dissipated inside the cover".

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The primary reason for the allowance of claim 4 is the inclusion of the limitation of a recording apparatus that includes a heat sink being disposed between the flexible wiring board and the head holder such that the heatsink is spaced from the outer surface of the head holder with a first clearance therebetween, the first clearance that is open to the atmosphere in its opposite ends in a direction of movement of the printing head. It is this limitation found in each of the claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

The primary reason for the allowance of claims 6-9, 13, 21-24 is the inclusion of the limitation of a recording apparatus that includes a relay circuit board to which the flexible wiring board is connected is disposed on the outer side of a second wall with a space there between; and first portion of the heatsink extends from the vicinity of a connecting portion where the edge of the first wall and an edge of the second wall are connected, while the second portion of the heatsink extends into a space between the relay circuit board and the head holder. It is this limitation found in each of the claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

The primary reason for the allowance of claims 11-12, 25-26 is the inclusion of the limitation of a heatsink which is disposed between the flexible wiring board and the head holder and releases heat generated by the driver element; a cover which is disposed on a side of the flexible wiring board opposite to the head holder, and protects the flexible wiring board; and an elastic member provided between the driver element and the cover such that the driver element is pressed toward the heatsink by a pressing force of the elastic member, wherein the heat generated by the driver element is conducted to the heatsink to be dissipated inside the cover. It is this limitation found in each of the claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

The primary reason for the allowance of claims 20 is the inclusion of the limitation of heatsink for releasing heat generated by the driver element, the heatsink disposed between the flexible wiring board and the head holder such that the heatsink is directly held in close contact with a surface of the flexible insulating band which surface is opposite to another surface of the flexible wiring board on which the driver element is disposed, at a positioning corresponding to a position in the another surface where the driver element is disposed, a portion of one of two opposite surfaces of the heatsink, which surface is opposed to the head holder and on the side opposite to the flexible wiring board, being separated from the head holder with a clearance to dissipate the heat conducted from the drive element via the flexible insulating band into the clearance, not in contact with the head holder. It is this limitation found in each of the claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

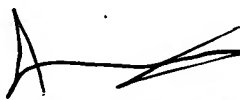

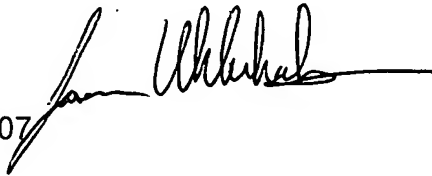

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
